

To Whom It May Concern,

I always enjoy writing letters of recommendation for those like Ashanti Williams. As her track coach, I have had the privilege of coaching many talented athletes over the years, and I can confidently say that Ashanti is one of the best athletes I have ever coached.

Ashanti's athletic ability is exceptional, but what truly distinguishes her is her character. She is a silent leader! She is someone who does not seek recognition, yet consistently earns the respect of her teammates through her actions. She leads by example every single day, demonstrating discipline, focus, and determination in practice and competition alike.

Her work ethic is unmatched. Ashanti works hard at all times, regardless of who is watching. She approaches every workout with intensity and purpose, constantly striving to improve. Her consistency and commitment sets the standard for our program.

In addition to her individual excellence, Ashanti is an outstanding teammate. She understands the importance of team success and is always willing to sacrifice for the betterment of the group. Whether adjusting her role, offering encouragement, or stepping up when needed, she puts the team first without hesitation.

Ashanti combines talent, humility, leadership, and selflessness in a way that is rare. I have no doubt she will continue to excel and positively impact any team, school, or organization she becomes a part of.

Please contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Jason Barnes
