To Whom It May Concern:

This letter serves as my recommendation that Natalia Wesolowski be awarded for an Ortho Dermatologics Scholarship. Natalia has proven herself to be an outstanding student during her two years of science classes. With her excellent grades and insatiable curiosity, Natalia shines as a true standout. She is intelligent, determined, and consistent. She approaches every lesson with enthusiasm and is always eager to expand her knowledge. Her commitment to understanding complex scientific concepts is truly commendable.

Throughout these past two years, Natalia's positive attitude towards learning has created an inspiring atmosphere in the classroom. She actively participates in discussions, encourages her peers, and consistently goes above and beyond what is expected of her. Her dedication sets an exemplary standard for other students to follow. Besides her interest in the biomedical field, Natalia has taken up numerous extracurricular activities, including volunteering at Holy Name Hospital, running a mentorship program that was formulated to assist underclassmen with my lab assignments, participating extensively throughout classes, and helping her peers in any instance that arises.

It is evident that Natalia has a deep passion for the medical field. Her genuine interest in healthcare motivates her to constantly seek new opportunities for growth and learning. With such drive and determination, there's no doubt that she will excel in any future endeavors related to medicine. I highly recommend her for the award. If you have any further questions regarding Natalia's ability or this recommendation, please do not hesitate to contact me using the information on this letterhead.

Sincerely,

Dr. Nestor Ladron
