To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of reference for Travis, whom I have known for approximately fifteen years, beginning when he was a student in my preschool class. Even at a young age, Travis was a curious explorer who loved the outdoors.

For the past four years, Travis has been a dedicated volunteer at the Cloverdale Senior Center, consistently demonstrating kindness, patience, and genuine respect for the Center's members. One of his regular contributions involved writing personal letters to seniors, an effort that brought connection, comfort, and joy to many. His thoughtful communication exemplified the maturity and empathy that made him stand out among his peers.

As part of his Eagle Scout project, Travis led his troop in constructing a redwood bench for the Center, providing much-needed outdoor seating for members and visitors. This project showed not only his leadership and organizational skills but also his commitment to meaningful, service-oriented work that improves the daily lives of others.

Most recently, Travis spearheaded a raffle fundraiser for the Senior Center, successfully raising $385. His initiative, reliability, and follow-through were evident throughout the process. In addition, he is currently working on a second fundraiser with his school, further demonstrating his continued dedication to supporting the community in practical and impactful ways. Travis is a mature, considerate, and service-driven young man whose kindness is evident in every project he undertakes. I have no doubt he will continue to make positive contributions wherever his path leads.

I highly recommend Travis for any opportunity he pursues. Please feel free to contact me if you need further information.

Sincerely,
